WIND-STROKE.

A Funnel-shaped Cloud Sweeps Down on St. Louis—Parties and Other Business Houses More or Less Wrecked.
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 13.—About 4:30 yesterday afternoon a tornado struck the southwest section of the city, and swept on through to the northern limit, marking a pathway nearly a quarter of a mile wide, and leaving death and destruction in its track. There was scarcely any warning of the approaching storm, owing to the fact that the wind had been blowing from the south for several hours. The full force of the wind was felt, and it was all over in an incredibly brief period of time, those residing in and near the path of the tornado scarcely realizing what had happened until it was all over. In addition to the loss of life and property, the storm did much damage to the city. The wind was so strong that it blew down the chimneys of the city, and the roofs of the buildings were lifted. THE STORM.

Awful Work of the Wind at Clinton, Ky.
CLINTON, Ky., Jan. 14.—A terrible death-dealing cyclone or tornado swept through this town at 7 o'clock Sunday night, demolishing seventy-five buildings, instantly killing ten people, and injuring fifty-five others more or less severely. The storm came sweeping down upon the town with a loud roar, from the southwest, leveling every thing in its path, filling the air with missiles of every description, picking up the roofs of buildings, and hurling them into the air. The storm was so strong that it blew down the chimneys of the city, and the roofs of the buildings were lifted.
